THE

OF
BALL STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
PUBLISHED BY THE
1932

DEDICATION

TO DAVID T. CUSHMAN, PROFESSOR OF EDUCATION, WHO, THROUGH UNCEASING APPLICATION AND STERLING EXAMPLE, HAS ENDEAVORED TO MAKE OUR PROBLEMS A LITTLE LESS DIFFICULT, WE, THE CLASS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTYTWO, GRATEFULLY DEDICATE THIS BOOK.

FOREWORD

NOTHER MILESTONE has been reached — another year book has come from the press. Can we hope that this book will become more than a book? Its merit lies in the memories that it will recall, the lives that will be relieved.

We have tried to give you a book that will make the year a distinctive landmark in your development. The year 1932 will be remembered as a year of depression. We have tried to dramatize it in the division pages of the book.

It has been our purpose, however humble, to create a book that will make you feel, make you hear, and perhaps make you see. With this thought in mind we submit this book for your approval.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

 \mathbf{M}^{UCH} of the credit for the development of Ball State Teachers College is due to the Board of Trustees. Through their untiring efforts our standards have reached a plane that is second to none in the country.

During the past year the post filled by Charles A. Greathouse, deceased member of the Board of Trustees, has been filled by John H. Heller of Decatur, Indiana. We trust that he will fill that position in the same commendable manner that was characteristic of Mr. Greathouse.

GEORGE C. COLE Indianapolis

FROM THE PRESIDENT

"A GAIN we approach the close of another school year. In many ways it has been like those that have preceded it. Lessons have been learned, recited and remembered or forgotten as the case may be. Friendships have developed into mutual understandings that will make or mar our lives. Personalities have unfolded and characters shaped for a life time.

"In many ways this last year has been quite different. All of society is suffering from a depression of intelligence. Not one of us has ever known so great a confusion. Our leaders cannot lead because of their divergent views and those who should follow do not know whom to trust.

"We could grow pessimistic and cynical, as some do, but this attitude solves no problems and will never lead us out of this slough of despond. This is a time of readjustment. In prosperity we went too far. Now we must retrace our steps back to a saner and more stable life.

"That the members of this class may contribute no small share to this return to normal thinking is our earnest hope.

"L. A. PITTI-NGER"

DR. RALPH NOYER Dean of the College

FROM THE DEAN

"To you who have survived four years of intensive professional training, Ball State Teachers College gives its heartiest salutations. You have learned only enough to start you on the road to complete training. This will take many years of study and practice. As true sons and daughters of your alma mater, you will be satisfied with only the best.

"A college is not a teaching factory, but an environment stimulating the learner to grow in socially constructive directions. The good student accepts responsibility for education himself. The teacher sets the stage, using the equipment made available for that purpose. A teacher can guide the work, remove obstructions, suggest procedures, direct efforts, and evaluate results; but in the end the student educates himself.

"Through curricula impregnated with such an educational philosophy you have passed. May your future success justify the high hopes of your alma mater.

"RALPH NOYER"

As Dean of Women, Dean De-Hority has won herself a place of esteem in the lives of the people around her. It is with the deepest regret and sorrow that we are compelled to sever a friendship that has been a genuine inspiration to us.

GRACE DEHORITY

DEAN HOWICK

To Dean Howick, the Senior Class wishes to extend its gratitude and best wishes for the manner in which he has, by fair and unbiased advice, made our years in college a brighter page in the book of life.

HARRY HOWICK

THE OFFICE

MR. WAGONER came to Ball State from the department of high school inspection, and has served as secretary-registrar during the last few years. In his capable hands is placed the responsibility of arranging the schedule for the college. His services have become invaluable to this institution.

Miss Trullender, as associate-registrar of the college, carries out registration plans and arranges schedules. She has proved herself capable and efficient in this position,

Miss Norris, financial clerk, fills a very responsible position in the office. In her capacity as financial clerk, she has become a genuine asset to the college.

Mr. Clevenger, secretary of credits and placements, has become acquainted with many students through the nature of his work. In him, many of us place our future destiny.

ART DEPARTMENT

THE work in the Art Department is organized to meet the needs of those who wish to teach or supervise art education in the public schools of Indiana. In its appreciation courses the Department attempts to develop in the student an art judgment which will aid him to solve the art problems which present themselves in everyday living. One of the outstanding past events of the year 1931-32 was the Art Appreciation Short Course held in Assembly Hall on November 5 and 6. The Art Department sponsored this event in co-operation with the Indiana University Extension Division and the Indiana Federation of Art Clubs.

MARK E. STUDEBAKER M. A. Ohio State University

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE aims to offer courses necessary (1) for the proper preparation of teachers of commercial subjects in our secondary schools, and (2) to give training in the fundamental principles of business customs which may be of practical value to any individual. "Motivation in the Teaching of Business Subjects" was the central theme of the Twelfth Annual Conference of Indiana Commercial Teachers on February 20, 1932, which was sponsored by the Department. A mass contest in which every pupil in the class took the test was a new feature of the Eleventh Annual State Commercial Contest held under the auspices of the Department. Winners in the mass event competed at the finals at Ball State. The Commerce Club and Pi Omega Pi, national honorary commercial teachers fraternity, are the student organizations which co-operate with the faculty in these special proiects.

THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION aims to help the students at Ball State Teachers College (1) to come to understand and appreciate teaching as one of the highest types of human relationship, (2) to see that the teaching relationship exists whenever two persons who vary in experience work together, and (3) to understand that the teaching relationship should operate in such a way that both persons learn, the one realizing more and more his potentiality as a teacher and the other realizing more and more his potentiality as a learner. To accomplish these aims all the courses in education, psychology, and student teaching are organized so as to give the students a chance to observe and to participate in all phases of the teaching relationship.

HARRY N. FITCH Ph. D. Columbia University

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

THE DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH attempts to serve two purposes: viz., (1) to fit students for positions as competent teachers of English in the grades and high school, and (2) to develop in students other than English majors the language skills and the appreciation of literature needed by them as individuals and as teachers of subjects other than English. To meet these objectives the Department offers courses in English and American literature, composition, journalism, speech, and dramatics, and in methods and materials used in teaching these subjects. Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalistic fraternity, and the Spotlight Club, local dramatics organization, are sponsored by the English Department.

MARY C. PAVEY Ph. D. University of Chicago

EDGAR A. MENK Ph. D. University of Iowa

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

THE FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT has a faculty of four and gives instruction in four languages: French, German, Latin, and Spanish. Majors may be secured in two of these, French and Latin. Two years of work in German and Spanish, which are offered in alternate years, may be secured. This will satisfy the foreign language requirement of twenty-four hours for the A. B. degree and will give opportunity for a wider cultural development for those who are interested in these languages. Two foreign language clubs, the Latin Club and the French Club, are active and provide interesting and instructive programs and furnish a means of valuable training and a broadened outlook for those going out to teach these languages in the high school.

MARY BIIMAN M. A. Columbia University

HOME ECONOMICS

THE DEPARTMENT OF HOME ECONOMICS has increased its service by the addition of an itinerant teacher trainer who works in co-operation with the State and Federal Boards for Vocational Education. In this way teachers in the field receive help with their problems and the college is kept informed on the needs of the teacher on the job. The Department is gratified with the increasing number of men who are electing its course. They are a real asset to the work. The course in student observation and participation found that the home economics work in the Burris School offered an excellent opportunity for introduction to teaching.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

WITH the passing of time and the developing of new ideas, new terms are created to express them. Dr. Frederick Gordon Bonser, while at McComb, Illinois, in 1906, conceived and tried out the idea that all children should learn about the various industries through participation. Up to that time no term which adequately expressed this idea had been used. Dr. Bonser created the term "Industrial Arts," and used it to express this new idea. As the development of new ideas in the field of educational handwork outgrew the old terms of "Manual Training" and "Manual Arts," so the work itself has outgrown the old unit shop idea and come to be the "General Shop" or "Laboratory of Industries."

ORVILLE E. SINK
M. A., Ohio State University

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

The Department of Mathematics offers courses designed to prepare students to teach mathematics in the elementary and secondary schools of the state; and to give a better understanding and appreciation of business arithmetic, elementary statistics, astronomy, and the history of mathematics. The Mathematics Club is a department organization which offers an opportunity for social meetings and the presentation of programs of interest and value to its members. During the past two years the Department of Mathematics has sponsored one of the annual sectional meetings of the State Mathematics Contest.

LESLIE H. WHITCRAFT Ph. D., Columbia University

CLAUDF E, PALMER M. A. Columbia University

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

IT is the purpose of the Music Department to train music supervisors and special music teachers for the public schools, to help make it possible for the teacher in the elementary school to present music with more confidence and skill, and to help every student gain an increased appreciation for an enjoyment of good music. To achieve this end, courses are planned dealing with music theory and methods of teaching music throughout the grades and high school, including the organization and conducting of high school and community bands, orchestras, and choruses.

PAUL B. WILLIAMS M. A. Columbia University

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

As a result of the constantly growing recognition of sports, games, dancing, swimming, and athletics in the educational field, there has been an increase in the organization and promotion of physical education programs among the schools. Schools have found, however, that the supply of well-trained teachers who can direct such activities of a physical nature falls far short of the demand. The Department of Physical Education, with its well-trained staff of instructors, is equipped to supply such teachers by giving adequate instruction and training in physical education, including athletics, to both men and women.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Courses in geology, geography, biology, botany, agriculture, physiology, hygiene, physics, and chemistry are offered by the Department of Science. The most modern apparatus in each field has been secured for the laboratory equipment. This condition makes it possible for a corps of highly trained instructors to provide students with a philosophy of right methods of thinking as well as to train them either for responsible positions in the educational system or for more advanced work in the various graduate schools.

ALBERT LAFLEUR Ph. D. Clark University

SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT is interested in the science of effective and harmonious social living. To aid in laying a basis for this functional social science, a high grade of scholarship, aimed at a refinement of the emotions as well as a releasing and disciplining of the mind, is required. That this scholarship may be pragmatic, close contact with realities is maintained. The achievement of these aims is sought in the work of classes and through the local chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society. The membership of the society has been active in promoting a proper commemoration of the George Washington Bicentennial, in direct cooperation with the Social Service Bureau of Muncie in alleviating distress, and in the stimulation of interest in current events.

BURRIS SCHOOL

THE BURRIS SCHOOL has become a necessary adjunct to Ball State Teachers College. Its curriculum is arranged for pupils from kindergarten to the eleventh grade. Modern teaching methods have made of it distinctive unit of its kind in this section of the country. Student activity is emphasized as the best procedure for pupil growth.

Ball State students are permitted to enter the class rooms so that they may observe the techniques employed in the teaching profession.

Burris School serves as an experimental field in the development of the educative process. Here theories become more practical, and the child becomes an individual rather than a product of a plant.

In attaining its goal, Burris School has acquired and maintained a faculty of outstanding merit. Instructors and teachers are selected only after they have been tested and proved capable of accepting the responsibilities placed upon them.

N. A. SCHULL

A REVIEW of the growth of Ball State cannot be considered if the efforts of N. A. Schull, Director of the Physical Plant, were not mentioned. He, with the assistance of O. W. Crabbs, former Superintendent of Grounds, has made the Ball State campus what it is today.

Since 1899, Ball State has grown from one building, pictured below, to eight buildings. From a comparative wilderness, the campus has grown to one of the finest in the state. While the college was making this growth, Mr. Schull played no small part, giving unstintingly his time and energy to the improvement of our Alma Mater.

IN APPRECIATION

TO MISS LAURA BENEDICT, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF ENGLISH, WHO WILL RETIRE THIS YEAR AFTER FORTY YEARS OF SERVICE IN THE FIELD OF EDUCATION, EIGHT OF WHICH WERE SPENT AT BALL STATE, WE, THE CLASS OF NINETEEN THIRTYTWO, RESPECTFULLY DEDICATE THIS PAGE.

Graduation, our goal for the past four years, will soon be attained. Can we hope that this symbol will be more than a mere graduation from Ball State? We are graduating into a school much larger than the one which we are leaving. Our responsibilities and duties will increase proportionately.

The Class of '32 is going into the world at a critical time — our economic institutions are on the verge of chaos, our social precepts are being revolutionized. The proof of our four years' labor will meet the acid test. Will we be submerged, or will we triumph over the trivialites of the present?

Can we leave the Senior Class without saying something of it? All that should be said will be said in the next few pages. The rest will be left to each member of the Class. May we hope that the Class of '32 will play its part in filling the larger book of life.

JUNIORS

WITH the able support and advice of the class sponsors, Miss Grabbe, Miss Woody, Dr. Shively, and Dr. Sabine, the Junior Class completed a very successful year of activity.

The chairman of the Junior Follies Committee, John Findling, with the co-operation of the various members of the class, helped make the annual Junior Follies, which took place April seventh, a success in every way.

On June first, the Junior Class set forth their talents in a convocation program in charge of Marie Wetzel, chairman of the Social Committee. At the same time the Junior Times, under the editorship of Paul Kelso, was issued to its many readers.

Acting in the usual courteous manner, the Juniors carried on the old traditions by being hosts to the Seniors at the Junior-Senior Prom held at the Hotel Roberts on June eleventh. They again acted as hosts to the Seniors at the Junior-Senior Reception, also in June.

It grieves many of the Juniors to have to leave such an interesting and versatile class as this year's has been, but look at the smiles on the following pages. There seems to be still higher ideals for the oncoming Senior Class.

TWO-YEAR GRADS

ALL STATE offers one group of students a certificate at the completion of the year's work, which permits them to teach in the elementary schools of the state. This group of students, which comprises a large part of the student body of the school, manifests its interest in Ball State by participation in school activities. As these two-year graduates assume their posts as teachers, let us hope that they will uphold the ideals and standards of Ball State uppermost in mind at all times.

SOPHOMORES

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS of 1932 was the first class in the history of Ball State to win their "scrap" two years in succession. No doubt, this gives them an added incentive for being "conceited." May we hope that in future they will show the same evidences of superiority over their opponents.

On February 19 the class gave its first "Sophomore Frolic," a dance at the Y. W. C. A. Don Musser's Band furnished the music for the occasion, which was well attended by the student body. Another frolic was held on March 11, and was also well attended.

Much credit for the success of the year is due to the class sponsors, Professors Claude E. Palmer, Viola Bryson, Lawrence Hurst, Mildred Johnson, and Dr. Amelia Wood.

What can be said of the Sophomores? Can the usual accusations be endorsed? Is the present class an exception to the general rule? We leave this up to your judgment.

The Sophomore Class of 1932 entered school in the fall of 1931 to prove that they had graduated from that embryonic state of the previous year. A bone of contention still remains between the two lower classes as to whether this is true.

We call upon you, gentle reader, to settle this to your own satisfaction after you have compared the two classes.

Ball State's 1931-1932 freshman army, almost 600 strong, was very, very much in evidence during the early days of the fall term. Possessing a bountiful supply of all the legendary qualifications of freshmen, and having acquired a few commonly attributed to sophomores, they arrived on the campus in September and proceeded to put away childish things in a very convincing manner.

The masculine population reached the zenith of its glory in the annual scrap with the sophs during and preceding the Home-Coming celebration. Although these daughty warriors were unable to swallow enough mud to win the scrap, they had their moments of pomp and circumstance a few days before when they played hound and hare with a number of their rivals, with freshmen taking the role of hounds.

In Building traditions of a school of the present day, it is difficult to overlook the part played by directors of athletics. The influence of the coaches over the team is very important. In picking men for directors for Ball State athletic teams, our school has been signally fortunate.

"Billy" Williams, Head of the Department of Physical Education, is one of the older members of the Ball State faculty. Mr. Williams has been largely responsible for the success of Ball State's athletic teams. In addition to his regular classroom work, Billy coaches the baseball team.

Lawrence McPhee came to Ball State in 1928, and since that time has established an enviable position on our coaching staff. "Mac" coaches football and track, and has also been instrumental in building intra-mural athletics.

Branch McCracken is completing his second year at Ball State. McCracken, a graduate of Indiana University and a basketball player of note in the Middle West, directs the destinies of the basketball and tennis squads.

Not a little credit for the building of a physical education program is due the Athletic Committee, composed of Frank V. Graham, chairman, Lydia Grabbe, and Orville Sink.

LAWRENCE McPHEE

PROSPECTS for the 1931 football season were only fair when Coach McPhee issued his first call to the gridmen. Losing Toler, Brady, Leakey, Roetkin, Lindzy, Earl, Jeffrey, Hobbs and Heck from last year's squad and Hodges and Mitchell in mid-season, weakened the Cardinals considerably.

Playing their first game of the season on a water soaked gridiron, Ball State Cardinals emerged victors over Danville 12-0. The first quarter saw both teams slipping and sliding over the field with neither team scoring. Early in the second quarter after Loveless had made consistent gains through a stubborn Danville forward wall, Cote went over for a touchdown. After battling back and forth until late in the third quarter, Wiggins recovered a fumble behind our own goal line for a touchdown. The fourth quarter was similar to the first in that neither team was able to score. Outstanding players for Ball State repeatedly ripped, pounded, and tore the Purple line for consistent gains.

TEAL Tackle SENIOR

Journeying to Miami for their second game of the season against the powerful Miami Hill toppers, Ball State gridmen suffered a 47-6 defeat. Worn down by the warm autumn sun and frequent Buckeye substitutions, Ball State soon saw the Miami score mount. Numerous injuries also weakened the strength of the Cardinals. Ball State started off in grand style by scoring on a pass from Myers to "Ez"

Johnson in the first few minutes of play. It was not long until the mighty Indian machine began to function. Scoring once in the first quarter, repeating in the second, coming back with two touchdowns in the third quarter and closing the game with three in the fourth quarter.

Tired, weakened and crippled, the team journeyed to the Butler Bowl to fall prey to the savage Butler Bulldogs, 34-0. Playing very mediocre football against a worthy opponent, Ball State failed to make a serious threat. Boaz, Butler halfback, made life miserable for the Cardinals by his inspired playing. By consistent gains, Butler scored twice in the first quarter, then added another in the second to make the score 20-0 at the end of the half. After holding the Bulldogs scoreless in the third, the Cardinals weakened and Butler added fourteen points in the final frame to end the game 34-0 against the Cardinals.

With one victory and two defeats to their credit Ball State pigskinners treked to Crawfordsville only to be humbled by Wabash 21-0. Both teams were evenly matched and the score exaggerates the difference between the teams. The first Wabsh score came when Engle, Meeting the strong Manchester eleven on the Ball State field, the Cardinals were forced to accept the short end of a 14-6 score. The first touchdown came when Chapman hit the line for a tally. Ball State retaliated in the second quarter when Loveless went over for a touchdown. Manchester put the game on ice when Piper, fleet Spartan halfback, raced for a score. Frequently Ball State threatened but lacked the necessary punch to score.

Ball State gridmen returned to the win column with a Dad's Day victory over Earlham 22-6. Early in the first quarter, after a pretty forward pass play, Loveless hit the line for a touchdown. A blocked punt resulting in a safety gave Ball State an eight-point lead at the end of the first quarter. At the start of the second quarter, Bowers, Playing before the Home-Coming crowd at Indiana State, Ball State fell before the thrusts of the downstate men. Weakened by the loss of Kitchell and Cote, due to injuries, the Cardinals lacked the drive although they threatened frequently. Ball State drew first blood when Loveless went over in the first quarter but Indiana State came back to score in the same period. The next score came in the third quarter to give Indiana State a 13-7 win.

Playing Franklin at the Home-Coming attraction Ball State failed in the fatal fourth quarter and lost 26-12. The Cardinals scored in the first quarter but Franklin tied the score in the second quarter. The next score came in the last frame when "Ez" Johnson took a pass and raced for a touchdown. At this point Franklin cut loose and scored three touchdowns before the Cards even threatened As the game ended, Ball State had the ball on the three-yard line.

Although the record reveals only two victories against six defeats the season can not be viewed as wholly unsuccessful. The schedule was one of the hardest ever attempted by Ball State.

This season ended the football careers of several Cardinals who have been important cogs in the McPhee football machine. The line will be hardest hit by the loss of Cly, Brogneaux, Kitchell, Teal, "Ez" Johnson, Chet Johnson, and Wiggins. Harold McCammon, backfield ace, will also be lost by graduation.

Next year's prospects are fair with Cote, Redding, Prough, Miller, Myers, Loveless, Ludington, Tolle, McCory, Goldsberry, Oren, Noble, and Frank Kitchell left from this year's varsity. Then there are several promising freshmen including Albright, Light, Wilson, Hampton, Hesher, Good, and Maddox. With these men back, under the able direction of Coach McPhee, Ball State should have a very successful season.

RETAINING the Dick brothers, Dorwin and Marvin, and Cly and Mc-Cammon from last year's squad, and supplemented by the sophomores, Anson, Loveless, King, Hebble, Weir, and Oren, Coach McCracken opened the basketball season last fall with fair prospects of a successful season. The Cardinals opened the season with a defeat at the hands of N. A. G. U. of Indianapolis by a score of 33 to 30. Although leading throughout the greater part of the game, Ball State was forced to take the small end of the score in the final minutes of the game, due to the sensational shooting of N. A. G. U. in the second half. N. A. G. U. was able to count nine times from the field out of twenty-one tries in the final period.

Playing Indiana Central away from home the following week, Ball State was able to get into the win column by taking a close game, 25 to 22. Perfect teamwork, clever passing, and a strong defense made the win over Indiana Central possible. In the last game before Christmas the Cards dropped a close one to the Danville tossers at Danville, 18 to 16. Although Danville trailed throughout the game, a strong finish gave them a victory.

After the Christmas holidays, Ball State entertained the Centenary College outfit from Louisiana, and was able to extend to them the short end of a 32 to 28 score. The outcome was never in doubt, with the Ball State netters playing the best game of the season up to this time. Following this victory the Cardinals returned to the losing column by dropping a game to Franklin 31 to 27 on the local court. This game was one of the fastest and closest games ever seen on the local court. The Cards were unable to get out of the "rut" and lost another close game to Indiana State 22 to 21 at Terre Haute.

Entertaining the smooth-passing Western State outfit from Kalamazoo, Michigan, the Ball State basket tossers won a hard and well-played contest 35 to 31. Credit for the victory over Western State should go to McCammon for his ability to stop Perrigo, Wolverine center, formerly from Delphi, Indiana. Basketball fans were given a rare treat by the diminutive forward, Hanna, who gave one of the best demonstrations ever seen in the local gym of how basketball should be played. The work of D. Dick and King were features of this game.

On January 23 Ball State had little trouble defeating the Purple Aces from Evansville by a score of 26 to 19. With King, Cly, and McCammon leading the way, the Cards soon showed their superiority over the rangy team from the southern part of the state.

In the next game of the year the Cards were able to turn the tables on the Danville tossers and avenged an early season defeat by a score of 38 to 25. In this game the Cards seemed to have the game their own way, which had been impossible in previous years with the formidable Reeves family standing in the way, although the youngest, "Gip," was still in the Danville lineup.

Losing the services of McCammon, and playing against an inspired Indiana Central team, Ball State was forced to taste the dregs of defeat at the hands of the Greyhounds, 33 to 20, the first at their hands in several seasons. Dejernet, colored center from Washington, was the key man of the Greyhound attack.

Meeting the powerful Butler team at Indianapolis, and still without the services of McCammon, Ball State again went down to defeat, 36 to 22. Chadd and Proffit of the Bulldogs were able to meet the thrusts of the Cardinals, led by Marvin and Dorwin Dick. Ball State's netters seemed unable to function smoothly.

The game with Indiana State saw the return of McCammon to the lineup; and, led by McCammon with 12 points, the Cards were able to beat the Sycamores 32 to 23. At the start of the game Indiana State ran the score to 10 to 1, but with Cly and McCammon hitting the basket, Ball State went into the lead at the beginning of the second half and were never headed.

Playing their last home game of the season, the Cards defeated the Spartans from Manchester 32 to 23. This was the last home appearance of Cly, McCammon, and Dorwin Dick. These three men, with King and M. Dick, bore the brunt of the Spartan attack and were never in danger.

Traveling to Kalamazoo for a return game with the Western State netters, Ball State was compelled to take the short end of a 32-to-23 decision. Again it was Hanna who did most of the damage to the Cards.

Playing their last game of the season against the Grizzlies at Franklin, the Cards avenged a defeat, taken earlier in the season, by a 30-to-27 count. McCammon led the Ball State scorers with ten points, with D. Dick taking second with seven. This game ended the college basketball careers of McCammon, Cly, and D. Dick. Many fans regret the fact that these three men, who have played consistently good ball for the last three or four years, will no longer enter Ball State's lineups.

This year's record was successful, with nine victories and seven defeats, making an average of .562. Playing high calibre ball against worthy opponents, the Cards acquitted themselves favorably at all times. Out of this year's squad, Ball State will see the following men in action again next year: Marvin Dick, Herschell King, "Chub" Loveless, Harold Anson, Don Oren, Harry Hebble, Ted Weir, Frank Kitchel, and Howard Hutson. From the freshman squad McCracken will be able to conscript Cage, Albright, Cardwell, Wilson, Hesher, Ginn, Hampton, and Todd. Considering everything, Ball State should have another successful season.

With Liggett, Long, Roetkin, Lindzy, Edwards, and Walker gone from last year's squad, Billy Williams, coach, faced the task of filling these men's shoes. By the middle of April, when the season opened against DePauw, the Cardinals had a fairly strong team with King behind the bat, Loveless at first, Marvin Dick at second, Dorwin Dick at third, Hutchison at short, Oren, Redding, and Brogneaux in the field, and Hinesley, Hiatt, Watson, and Burns handling the pitching.

Starting the season inauspiciously by dropping the first game to the DePauw Tigers 12 to 0, the Ball State baseball squad looked anything but imposing. The day was cold and the Cardinal pitchers were ineffective. Four errors were not conducive to the impression that we might have a good squad.

Traveling to Crawfordsville, the fighting Cards played the Cavemen from Wabash on even terms until the thirteenth inning when Wabash scored four runs to Ball State's three to take the contest. Ball State garnered seventeen hits to thirteen for Wabash but lost because Wabash pelted the pill a little farther than did Ball State.

Playing a return game with Wabash on Ball State's diamond, the Cards, with Roy Watson pitching, shut out the Cavemen. Watson let the Wabash batters down with three hits. This game was marked by the heavy hitting of the Cardinals. The Cards were able to get six runs, while holding the Cavemen scoreless, and socked the pill for eleven hits, four of which were for four bases.

Not to be deterred by a defeat earlier in the season, Ball State's ball team went to Greencastle to avenge the previous defeat. They pelted the pill over the lot for thirteen hits and ten runs while holding the Tigers to ten hits and four runs.

On April 29, Ball State played the perfect host to Indiana University by favoring them with a 12-to-6 victory. Cardinal pitchers weakened; and Indiana batsmen found the ball for two home runs, wrecking Ball State's only chance to outclass the Big Ten champs.

Ball State next traveled to Terre Haute to battle the Sycamores for eleven innings, but due to wildness on the part of Ball State pitchers lost the decision 12 to 11. Indiana State scored five runs in the ninth and one in the eleventh to win the game.

Playing the Purple Warriors from Danville on the home diamond, the Cards were again defeated, this time 9 to 3. Danville gave their pitcher good support, while the Cards made three errors at critical times in the game. The Cards, however, excelled in extra-base hits; Hutchison hit a home run, King a triple, and Hinesley and Loveless doubles.

The Cardinals showed a reversal of form, however, by defeating Franklin 17 to 4 under an avalanche of blows, avenging a defeat on the football field last fall 26 to 12. With Hinesley holding Franklin to five hits and with fourteen hits to their credit, the Cards showed the fans what they could do should necessity arise.

However, the winning streak lasted but one game, as the Cardinals were again forced to taste defeat at the hands of Danville, making it twice in two weeks that the Purple Warriors imposed on our Cards. Danville outscored Ball State 7 to 3, and outhit them eight to seven. Five errors on the part of Ball State helped to pave the way for the Purple victory.

On May 28, Ball State entertained Valparaiso and handed them a 12-to-4 defeat. The game started with a pitchers' battle, Valparaiso leading 1 to 0 until the final innings when the Card batters began finding the Vaplaraiso offerings. Hinesley, Card southpaw, struck out thirteen Valparaiso batters.

With one game remaining on the schedule, the Cardinals cannot hope to win half the games of the season, yet another game would help our standing. On first thought, one might believe that the baseball season was a failure; but with injuries, sore arms, and several rookies in the lineup, the Cardinals have acquitted themselves creditably.

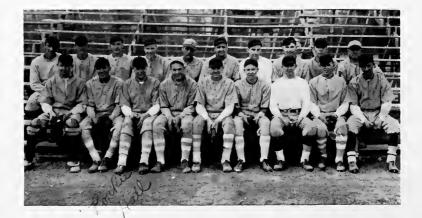

Prospects are good for another year, although Hutchison, Brogneaux, Watson, Burns, Appel, and D. Dick will be lost by graduation. With the help that will come from the freshman squad, these gaps will be filled; and with a pitching staff built around Hinesley, Ball State should have a successful season next year.

field events, Ball State's prospects looked exceptionally bright. These men were supplemented by the sophomores Fowlkes, Darst, Rich, Moorhead, and McCreery.

In the first meet with Earlham, with ideal weather conditions, Ball State forged ahead in the final events to win the meet handily by a score of $73\frac{1}{2}$ to $52\frac{1}{2}$. The Cards scored a grand slam in the 100-yard dash with Graham, Johnson, and Fowlkes carrying the colors of Ball State. Graham also took a first in the 4+0-yard dash and a second in the low hurdles. McCammon proved the surprise of the day when he threw the discus 119 feet, 11½ inches, breaking the school record.

GRAHAM SENIOR

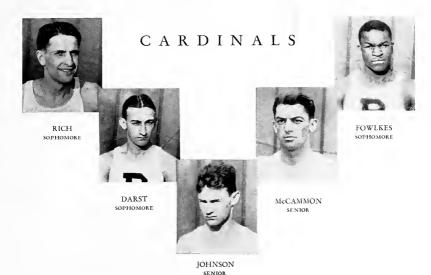

One of the features of the meet was the 880-yard run, won by Rich. Running second to Holiett of Earlham until the last hundred yards, he uncorked a flying finish, winning the event by fifteen yards.

Ball State won the meet by virtue of its nine first places to five for Earlham, and also, by showing exceptional strength in the track events.

Journeying to Indianapolis on April 30, Ball State forced a surprise victory over the Butler Bulldogs 69 5/6 to 61 1/6. Again the Cards were able to run one, two, three, this time in the 220-yard dash and the low hurdles. The victory in the low hurdles proved to be an upset, Barrett placing first.

Graham took first places in the 220-yard dash and the 440-yard dash, and placed second in the low hurdles to take high-point honors for Ball State. Tauer of Butler was high-point man for the meet with nineteen points.

Ball State won six first places and the relay as compared to eight firsts for Butler.

On May 5, Ball State was defeated by the well-balanced DePauw outfit 74 1/3 to 56 2/3. Graham, with firsts in the 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, and low hurdles was high point man of the meet. Again the Cards took three places in the 100-yard dash, with Fowlkes and Johnson following Graham to the tape.

Ball State scored six firsts to eight for DePauw. Chronic weakness in the field events cost the Cards this meet.

In the Little State Meet at Indianapolis on May 14, the Cards could do no better than third place. The meet was won by DePauw with Butler placing second. Ball State scored twenty-nine points. Scoring only one first, Dick in the broad jump, the Cards did not live up to expectations. Fowlkes took third in the 100-yard dash and fourth in the 220-yard dash. Graham took second in the 440-yard dash and second in the low hurdles. Darst took fourth in the 440-yard dash. Rich took second in the 880-yard run. Moorhead took fourth in the mile. Stiff took third in the high hurdles and third in the low hurdles, and Dick took first in the broad jump. This completed the Cardinal scoring.

The Big State Meet is to be held on May 28 at Bloomington — too late for this year's Orient. What will the Cards do? We are sorry that we will be unable to print the results in this Orient. Regardless of this, we are backing the Cards to the limit.

BALL STATE HARRIERS

Ball Sate Harriers opened the season in fine style, defeating Butler at night by a score of 23 to 32. Moorhead placed second to Boaz from Butler. Dunbar took third, while McCreery, Rich, and Darst placed fifth, sixth, and seventh respectively.

Journeying to Greencastle for a meet with DePauw, which was run between halves of the DePauw-Boston football game, Ball State went down to defeat. Moorhead placed fourth. Dunbar, McCreery, Whybrew (freshman), Rich, and Darst finished sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth in order.

The harriers brought Ball State a win on Dad's Day, winning over Earlham 24 to 31. Moorhead took a first, McCreery third, Dunbar fourth, Rich seventh, and Darst ninth.

Closing a successful season with a win over the Wabash team, which had previously defeated Butler, the Cardinals were forced to show their wares on a rain-soaked field. Led by "Captain" Moorhead, the Cards took first, third, fourth, eighth, ninth, and tenth places to win the meet 25 to 31.

Of the 1931-1932 team of harriers five were sophomores, and one, Whybrew, was a freshman, which incidentally means that Ball State's prospects for a good team in the next few years are exceptionally bright.

DARRELL JONES

DARRELL JONES

Previous performances and his own personality are convincing proof Darrell Jones, high jumper extraordinary, is worthy of generous recognition. He is one of the outstanding figures in the history of Cardinal athletics. Ball State hopes for a representative in the 10th Olympiad, to be held in Los Angeles this summer, rest with him.

Last year he was the most consistent and the most outstanding high jumper of the country. During the season he won and set new marks in both the Little and Big State Meets. He won the National Collegiates, in which he tied for second the year before. In the district American Athletic Union meet he failed by a hair to shatter the world's record held by Osborn.

Jones first represented Ball State Teachers College in the spring of 1926. He came here after playing the part of a star on the Muncie High School team. After two years of absence he returned to Ball State to add to his laurels.

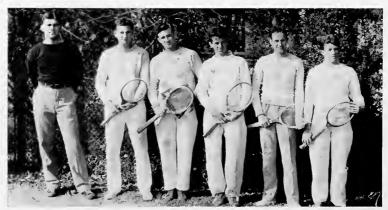

He has not confined himself to high jumping, however, and holds the school record in the high hurdles. He can also turn in a good performance in the low hurdles and the broad jump. In addition to his athletic prowess, he is an artist, now studying in Cincinnati.

TENNIS

Ball State's 1932 tennis teams fared no better than have its representatives in that sport in previous years. With only two men left from last year's team, Weir and Prough, Coach Branch McCracken was faced with the problem of finding enough suitable material to place a squad on the court.

Four meets were scheduled with Earlham, Butler, and Indiana State. The Cards dropped two meets with Earlham and one with Butler. The meet scheduled with Indiana State was cancelled because of rain. Another meet with N. A. G. U. of Indianapolis ended in a draw.

A more successful season may be expected next year, however, as Coach McCracken will have all the members of this year's team back with the experience derived from one year's active competition.

WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION

This year's program of physical education has been capably directed by the three faculty members of the department, Miss Grace Woody, Miss Regina Frank, and Miss Viola Bryson. The principal activities can be divided into three groups: those carried on by the Women's Athletic Association, the extra-curricular and elective work in dancing, and the regular class work for majors and non-prepared students.

The goal of W. A. A. work for the year was the All-State College Play Day for which our organization was hostess on April twenty-third and twenty-fourth. All the Indiana colleges were represented at the meeting held in Forest Hall on Friday afternoon. The purpose of the occasion was to promote an acquaintance with the students and to gain a knowledge of the work being done in physical education in other colleges. A program of interschool baseball was worked out and the occasion included a dance Friday night in the gymnasium, a choice of various sports activities Saturday afternoon, and a climax of a formal banquet. Purdue University will be hostess next year.

A great amount of time and effort was spent by both the teachers of dancing, Miss Woody and Miss Frank, and the students in working up the dance recital which was given in the auditorium, June second. The recital culminated a term of four years of dance study by several girls majoring in dancing and was a climax to their college work in rhythm. The program consisted of groups of dances of all kinds, all of which were creative. Such titles as Architecture, Primitive, Night, Fire, and Fundamentals give some idea of the variety of the program. The ability of Miss Woody and Miss Frank in creating original dance patterns is recognized by their students and by prominent physical educators.

No small part of the Physical Education Department's work has been in the regularly scheduled classes. Classes in games are given to students on Primary courses and to students majoring in physical education. The advanced students stunts class for physical education majors was taught by Mr. Williams, head of the department, and the students reached a high degree of skill. The addition of an indoor archery range in the east end of the basement of the gymnasium for next year will broaden the already wide range of activities offered by the department. The swimming and diving classes held in the Y. W. C. A. pool under the tutelage of Miss Bryson have proved very popular and the percentage of Ball State College girls who take swimming lessons is increasing.

THE EASTERNER

News of students, faculty, and alumni of Ball State State Teachers College appears each week during the school year in The Easterner, the college newspaper. The paper is published by a group of students who donate their services during the year. Recognition is given them through nomination for membership in Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalistic fraternity.

The Easterner was first published in 1922 as a small magazine-sized four-column paper. Since that time it has grown to the present large four-page seven-column news sheet. The paper is a charter member of the National Scholastic Press Association, and was again awarded a first-class rating this year by that organization.

Laurence Brown, editor-in-chief for the year, became ill during the holidays but members of the staff "carried on" and the paper never failed to make its appearance during that time. At the beginning of the spring term Esther Weir, associate editor, was named editor-in-chief because of his absence.

SUMMER EASTERNER

FOR the ten-weeks' session during the summer terms, summer staff members are responsible for the publication of The Easterner throughout that time. Those who give their services during that period cannot be praised too greatly, because real effort is needed to publish the paper when news is relatively scarce. Frances Hoffman and John Winebrenner as editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively, served as the heads of the 1931 summer staffs.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

IT is with pleasure that I take this opportunity to commend the staff of the 1932 Orient on their attitude and co-operation in the editing of this book. It is always a comfort for the editor to know that, among his staff, he has men and women who are dependable. In the last few days before the publication of the book, the staff has proved that the trust and faith in them was not amiss.

Especially do I wish to praise and acknowledge the efforts of Jewel Standerford, Kathleen Anderson, and Orville Sink. Although Sink had no official position on the staff, he gave to this book his time and talent.

HONORARY FRATERNITIES

ALPHA PHI GAMMA

Omega chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary co-educational journalistic fraternity, was established at Ball State Teachers College in 1931. National officers presided at the installation and initiation for sixteen active members and four associates. This was the fourth national honorary fraternity to establish a chapter here.

Membership in the fraternity is invitational and open only to those students who have served the required number of terms on the business or editorial staffs of The Easterner, the college newspaper. Formal initiation is held twice each year.

The outstanding event on the fraternity's program this year was the "Razz" banquet held at the Y. W. C. A., Saturday night, May 14. At that time the "unprintable" news about campus celebrities was revealed. Business meetings and dinner meetings are held regularly during the year.

Persons instrumental in bringing the chapter here felt that it answered a long-apparent need for recognition of those students who had given so freely of their time so that the student publications might appear.

KAPPA DELTA PI

SCHOLASTIC standing, participation in extra-curricular activities, and character at Ball State are recognized by election to the Gamma Theta chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary educational fraternity. Twenty-nine seniors were initiated as charter members on Thursday, May 28, 1931.

The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi is to encourage a higher degree of social service by fostering high professional and educational standards. The national program, including the publication of the fraternity magazine, The Kadelpian, are planned with this purpose in mind.

Dinner or business meetings are held once each month. The culminating event of the year was the formal initiation banquet held at the Y. W. C. A., Tuesday, May 31. President L. A. Pittenger was the principal speaker.

PI GAMMA MU

Pi Gamma Mu was founded at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, in 1924 and now has more than one hundred active chapters.

Indiana Gamma chapter was founded at Ball State Teachers College, February 20, 1931, with the two-fold purpose of inculcating ideals of scholarship and developing a scientific attitude toward social problems.

During the past year the organization has sponsored open forums for current events, co-operated with the local social service agencies, and has observed the George Washington Bi-centennial Celebration with a play presented in several different cities.

XI CHAPTER of Pi Omega Pi was installed at Ball State Teachers College December 6, 1929, with ten charter members. The organization is a national honorary commerce fraternity and has as its ideals fine character and high ethics in business and professional life as well as scholastic standing.

Pi Omega Pi took an active part in the State Commerce Teachers Conference and the State High School Commercial Contest. During the spring term the fraternity sent out a questionnaire to former students who are now teaching, in order to determine the courses most beneficial to the commercial teacher.

The Xi Cardinal, the fraternity paper, was published three times this year. Editors were Sarah Burdick, Faye Daniels, and Hazel Creamer.

THE recognition of "skili" in practical arts and vocational education, the promotion of "social efficiency" and particularly the fostering and publication of results of research efforts in the above-mentioned fields, are included in the purposes of Epsilon Pi Tau, honorary professional fraternity in industrial arts and vocational-industrial education.

The local chapter of Epsilon Pi Tau was installed at Ball State Teachers College in 1930, and since that time it has increased in power and prestige. Special meetings are held during the term, and persons who are engaged in such lines of work are brought as speakers.

The organization assisted with the annual Industrial Arts conference for teachers of industrial arts held at Burris School this spring. More than one hundred teachers attended the meeting, which was in general charge of John Ludington, a member of the fraternity.

CHORAL SOCIETY

A LTHOUGH organized for the first time this year, the Choral Society can look back upon the performance of two major works suited to an organization of that kind: the first, "Ruth," a sacred cantata by Gaul; the second, "The Rose Maiden," a secular cantata by Cowan.

The group included approximately sixty voices this year, and held weekly rehearsals. Several performances were given in city churches and in neighboring towns. "The Rose Maiden" was presented as the concluding feature of Music Festival Week, Friday evening, May 6, in Assembly Hall. Soloists were Estelle Andrews, soprano; Betty Cope, contralto; Walter Shaw, tenor; Howard Brumfiel, baritone.

Prof. Claude E. Palmer, conductor, is planning performances of several of the better choral works, including cantatas and oratorios, next year.

MADRIGAL CLUB

MADRIGAL CLUB is one of the most popular of the organizations of the department of music. Composed of selected feminine voices, the group has sung many times in Muncie and in neighboring cities, including Indianapolis. The club has appeared on several convocation program during the course of the year.

The name of the organization was derived ostensibly from the old English vocal form of music, the madrigal. Members do not, however, limit themselves solely to songs of this type, but perform the best musical literature adapted to their particular type of group.

JUNIOR FOLLIES OF 1932

CAPTIVATING music, clever dancing, a well-chosen cast, and witty lines in an amusing story combined to make the 1932 edition of the Junior Follies the most successful production yet given. The Junior class sponsored the show which was presented in the Masonic Temple auditorium Thursday, April 7.

Original songs by Carl Hofer and Don Musser were the outstanding features of the show. The theme song, "I Found the Girl of My Dreams," by Hofer, scored heavily. Other song hits were "Little Orphan Annie," by Hofer, and "I Got Rhythm," by Musser. Musser arranged orchestrations for all the songs and directed the twenty-piece orchestra that played throughout the production.

Leading roles in the Follies of 1932 were played by Frances Parks and Joe King. Other members of the cast were Catherine Hofer, Ruth Ann Weser, Harold Miller, Lowell Ohmart, Luther Butler, Richard Creagmile, Robert Kelsey, and Roy Moorehead.

George R. Kernodle of the department of English directed the show. The script was writen by Jewel Standerford, author of the one used last year. John Findling as general chairman, and Myron Underwood as business manager, were assisted by the following: Orlo Miller, production manager; Grace Rehme, women's chorus; Fred Bogart, men's chorus; Virginia Olsen, costumes; Frank Hatton, properties; John Simpson, advertising; Jewel Standerford, publicity; Emery Skinner, auditing of accounts; John Grogg and Eugene Mathews, stage and lighting.

"SUN UP"

"Sun Up." a drama by Lulu Vollmer, was the first presentation of the Spotlight Club to be given this year. It was presented Thursday night, November 19, in Assembly Hall and so marked was its success that a second performance was given at the Masonic Temple auditorium Tuesday, January 19. George R. Kernodle directed the play.

The story concerned an old mountain woman whose life in North Carolina had been overshadowed by her hatred of the Law that had taken away her husband. When America entered the war and her son joined, to be killed, her hatred knew no bounds. Finally, a way of evening the score was presented when she held the life of a young fugitive in her hands, but her love for the dead son overcame the desire for revenge.

Charity Eva Williams, as the Widow Cagle, gave one of the finest performances ever seen on the local stage. Other members of the able supporting cast were Frances Parks, Emmy; LaVerne Harader, the Stranger; Kenneth Hayden, Rufe; Luther Butler, Bud; Herman Campbell, Pap Todd; Robert Eller, Sheriff Weeks; Allen Usher, the minister.

Excellent characterization, intense dramatic scenes, effective lighting, good costumes, and intelligent direction resulted in an excellent performance.

"HOLIDAY"

A BRILLIANT comedy of modern life, "Holiday," by Philip Barry, was the winter term production of the Spotlight Club. It was presented Tuesday, February 30, in Assembly Hall under the direction of C. A. Millspaugh, a Ball State graduate and an alumnus of the club.

Direction, action, lighting, and scenery combined to make this production one of the most ambitious ever given here. Two sets, one depicting the luxurious living room of the Seton home and the other a nursery, were the most elaborate constructed at Ball State. Everett Hill Sharp of Muncie, a well known young artist, assisted in the painting of the sets.

Louise Thompson as Linda Seton, the role created by Hope Williams, gave a pleasing performance that was heartily received by the audience. Ercie Castor as the young man in question brought charm and naturalness to his role. Eleanor Bing as the snobbish sister gave a competent performance.

Other members of the cast included Howard Blake, Edward Seton; LaVerne Harader, Ned Seton; Janet Young and Kenneth Hayden, the Potters; Martha Teter and David Study, the Crams; Merry Clouse, Don Oren, and George Koons, servants.

CAMPUS CHORDS

THE fourth edition of Campus Chords, annual production of the Department of Music, was presentend in Assembly Hall Thursday evening, May 12, before an enthusiastic audience. Music students of the college gave positive proof that evening that they were capable of putting on a show of professional merit.

Probably the outstanding portion of the evening's entertainment was the original one-act operatic farce, "Tsch! Tsch! Professor!" Howard Brumfiel was composer of the music for the script which was written by Raymond Himelick. The opera centered about the plight of a professor who, as the authors put it, "turned lover by request and made a yowling success of it." Several curtain calls at the end testified to the warmth of the reception accorded it.

BOOSTERS CLUB

THE BOOSTERS CLUB is open to every student in Ball State Teachers College and is, consequently, one of the largest organizations on the campus. Its purpose is to give united assistance to all college activities, especially athletics.

Arrangements for the annual Home-Coming celebration are under the direction of the officers and sponsors of the club. The program for the 1931 Home-Coming was one of the most successful ever held. Events planned included a bonfire and snake dance, the annual class scrap, and the all-college dance held in the Ball gymnasium.

The club also sponsored the "Howling Hundred," a group of men students who gave vociferous support at all athletic contests. In addition to these activities, the organization sponsored a discussion of the proposed student council at one of the convocation periods in May.

MOTHER'S DAY

MORE than five hundred mothers and a few fathers, attended the annual Mother's Day program held Friday, May 12, under the auspices of the Girls Club, sponsors of the event. This day is annually set aside in honor of the mothers of members of the student body at Ball State.

The program opened with the special convocation program held at 10 o'clock in Assembly Hall. President L. A. Pittenger welcomed the guests on behalf of the college and informed them that all classes were open for their visits. At noon the various sororities and fraternities held luncheons honoring their guests.

The annual reception given by the Women's Faculty Club was held from 2 to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Recreation Room of Forest Hall. The outstanding event of the day was the annual banquet held at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 o'clock that night. Mrs. P. D. Edwards, Mrs. Claude King, President Pittenger, and Miss Grace DeHority were the speakers for the occasion.

SHARLEY B. DEMOTTE

To Mrs. Sharley B. DeMotte, Chairman of the Publication Committee, the Orient staff wishes to show its appreciation and gratitude for the manner in which she has at all times been willing to help the staff with its problems. By her inspiration and insistence on accuracy, we hope that we have turned out a book that will stand the test of time.

JUST TO SHOW OUR APPRECIATION

LAURENCE BROWN

No year book is ever complete without the pictures which grace its pages. Laurence Brown, one time editor of The Easterner, is responsible for the pictures in this book. If you like the pictures, give credit to "Brownie." If you don't like them, blame the camera. His zeal to give the book good pictures, and his ability to print them have made his services to the year's Orient staff invaluable. Too much credit cannot be bestowed upon him.

"Fame is the spur that the clear spirit doth raise (That last infirmity of the noble mind)
To scorn delights and live laboring years;
But the fair guerdon when we hope to find,
And think to burst out into sudden blaze,
Comes the blind Fury with the abborred shears,
And slits the thin-spun life."

THE GIRLS CLUB

THE PURPOSE of the Girls Club, an organization open to all women students at Ball State, is to create and to foster a feeling of friend-liness and helpfulness among the students and between sororities, as well as in sororities, on the campus.

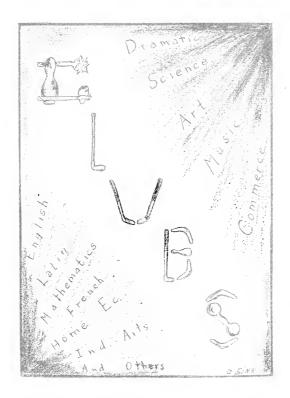

An executive council composed of presidents of the thirteen sororities, officers of the club, and Miss Grace DeHority, sponsor, acts as a governing body for the organization. All important rules governing the sororities are drawn up by this body.

Activities sponsored by the club during the past year included the annual informal party which officially opened the rush season among sororities at the beginning of the fall quarter. The most important event sponsored by the club was the annual Mother's Day celebration held in honor of the mothers of the students.

In addition to these activities, the Girls Club sponsored a series of matinee dances held from 3 to 5 o'clock in the Recreation Room of Forest Hall every other Wednesday. The annual formal dance held at the Hotel Roberts during the spring term brought the year's activities to a close.

COMMERCE CLUB

THE past year has been a very successful one for the Commerce Club, one of the largest organizations on the campus. Membership is open to all students in the Department of Commerce and any other persons who are interested.

A series of interesting talks was given at the regular monthly business meetings. Among the speakers were A. C. Thornburg, George Cox, H. J. Wilson, Frank Harrold, Gertrude Barrett, Lester Bush, and Fred D. Rose. In addition to the talks, short specialty numbers were given at each of the meetings.

A number of dinner parties were held throughout the year. Among the most important of these was the annual Christmas party. The most important event of the year was the Indiana State Commercial Contest held Saturday, April 30. Following the contest the Eleventh Annual Victory Banquet was held at the Hotel Roberts. More than three hundred attended. The annual picnic in June closed the activities of the year.

Standing committees for the year have been as follows: program, John Simpson, chairman, Kathryn Markley, Wilma Wood; social, Ruth Ann Weser, chairman, Mary Ellen Elmore, Charles Berhman, Albert Rickert, Harriett Williams, Leonard Ireland.

MUSIC CLUB

THE MUSIC CLUB of Ball State is undoubtedly one of the largest and most active of its departmental organizations. This year approximately sixty members were included in its personnel.

The two most important musical activities of the college, Music Festival Week and Campus Chords are sponsored by this organization, schools from many neighboring counties taking part in the former affair, held in April and May. The work of the club in respect to these activities was more than ordinarily successful this year.

Monthly meetings are held at which members are given opportunity to perform, and occasionally to hear outside talent and speakers. Membership is open, not only to music majors and specials, but also to those interested in that art.

KALLISTA ART CLUB

K ALLISTA, the Greek word meaning ideal beauty, was chosen as the most suitable name for the club formed by art students in 1921, under the direction of Miss Susan M. Trane, Head of the Department of Art. The purpose of the club is to encourage appreciation in all phases of art, to establish a fund for buying art objects, and to sponsor exhibits of interest to students and faculty.

The program planned for the past year has been admirably suited for the furtherance of the organization's aims. Social and business meetings were held throughout the year, and several prominent speakers addressed the club. Among the persons who spoke were Miss Elisabeth Ball, Mrs. J. R. Marsh, and G. Ames Aldrich.

An exhibit of wood-block prints by Ernest Watson, New York artist, was shown in the art gallery during April, under the auspices of the Kallista Art Club. Members of the organization also assisted with the plans for the second annual Conference for Art Teachers held at Ball State. The concluding feature on the program was the annual formal banquet held at Lucina Hall during the spring term.

REKAMEMOH CLUB

The Rekamemoh Club was organized in the fall of 1920 and was known as the Theta Sigma Psi Club. Later it became known as the Home Economics Club, but last year the name was changed to the Rekamemoh Club.

The purpose of this organization is to create and maintain an interest in home economics; to promote a spirit of fellowship among students interested in home economics; and to furnish an opportunity for social life.

This year the club sent several delegates to the Indiana State Teachers meeting in Indianapolis. Baskets for the needy were distributed at the Thanksgiving season. During the year, Rekamemoh has served a number of clubs and banquets, and also has had many interesting and beneficial meetings. One of the most interesting features of the year was a costume dance given by the club for the High School home economics girls.

The club is making rapid progress and is striving to do greater things every year.

LATIN CLUB

THE LATIN CLUB, one of the oldest and most active of the departmental clubs on the campus, was organized in October, 1921. The purpose of the organization is to create a spirit of fellowship among the Latin students and to foster an interest in the classics.

Meetings are held on the third Wednesday of each month. The club has a number of social meetings, an annual Christmas party, and many program meetings. This year the club entertained the sponsors, guests, and members at a Cena Romana, held in the Recreation Room.

At the meetings varied and worth-while programs on classical subjects are given by the members.

Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association was organized at Ball State Teachers College in 1921. The purpose of the organization is to be of service to fellow students, and especially to direct and assist in the adjustment of the new students to the social life of the college.

The organization has been affiliated with both the state and national groups this year. It has been reorganized on a basis of definite membership by term system, open to all men in school. The cabinet serves as the directing body of the organization.

In co-operation with the local Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. has assisted in the freshman orientation program, the publication of the Ball State Handbook, parties for freshmen, all-college mixers, convocation and radio programs, and a Human Relations conference.

N. A. Schull, faculty advisor, has been of the greatest help in planning and carrying out the program for the year.

SPOTLIGHT CLUB

Three outstanding major productions were presented by the Spotlight Club this year. The plays included "Sun Up," by Lulu Vollmer; "Holiday," by Philip Barry; "Hotel Universe," also by Barry. All of these presentations were of a distinctly high calibre, following the club's purpose of presenting only the best.

In addition to the full-length productions, the club has given numerous one-act plays for various programs on the campus and for those of local organizations. A number of these one-act plays were given by prospective pledges to the club as their final tryouts. Twelve of the group who survived the first cut were initiated into the organization.

The Spotlight Club climaxed a highly successful year by presenting fifty dollars to the college to be used for the purchase of stage equipment. In addition to this gift, the net proceeds of the spring production, "Hotel Universe," were given to the Student Loan Fund.

Since its organization in 1923 as the only dramatics club on the campus, the Spotlight Club has become one of the outstanding organizations on the campus. Each year the program is planned for the chief purpose of fostering an interest in dramatics. Bi-monthly meetings are held to plan activities and to discuss items of interest in the field of drama.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

THE MATHEMATICS CLUB, one of the most active on the campus, was organized in the winter term of 1929 with thirty-three charter members. The purpose of the organization is to create and maintain an interest in mathematics, to promote good fellowship, and to consider mathematical interests in a broader way than the class work permits.

Meetings of the Mathematics Club are held on the second Wednesday night of each month. Programs consist of talks by representative mathematics students, comments and reports by faculty sponsors, and a few talks by speakers from outside organizations. A few social meetings are also planned for the year.

The Women's Athletic Association was organized on this campus in the fall of 1924 and later became affiliated with the national organization, Athletic Conference of American College women, of which over a hundred universities and colleges are members.

The purpose of the Association is to promote good fellowship and sportsmanship among women of the college by fostering an interest in leisure time activities.

The outstanding event this year was the sponsoring of State College Play Day on this campus, with representatives from eight of the colleges and universities in the state as guests.

The activities sponsored by this organization are archery, tennis, tumbling, bowling, track, hockey, swimming, soccer, volley ball, baseball, and basketball.

PRIMARY CLUB

LOUISE HODSON

Vice-President

THE PRIMARY CLUB, first organized in 1925, is open to all students enrolled on that curriculum at Ball State. Although its first membership numbered only twenty-five, its growth has been rapid and more than one hundred are now enrolled on its books.

The purpose of the organization is to promote a social atmosphere among students on the primary curriculum and to further the professional interests of its members. Special monthly programs are planned with this purpose in mind. Persons who are doing work in the primary field are always included among the speakers for the year.

FOREST HALL

FOREST HALL, the smaller women's dormitory, is worthy of note among the various organizations on the campus of Ball State Teachers College. To forty-one young women students it offers many social advantages and recreational opportunities during the year.

This year, among the many events, were a pajama dance for the residents of the hall, their guests, and the alumnae at Home-Coming; a joint Christmas party with Lucina Hall; a get-together for the visiting mothers on Mother's Day; a faculty tea, and various parties, dinners, hikes, and picnics. Outstanding on the program for the year was the second annual Hatchet Hop, a dance given on February twentieth in the recreation room of the hall.

Under the guidance of the hall director, Mrs. Jessie Trube Worden, the organization of the hall, including executive officers, a courtesy committee, and an entertainment committee, directs the many activities of the year.

LUCINA HALL

LUCINA HALL was first occupied in the fall of 1927. This spacious residence for women is a gift of the Ball brothers, and was dedicated February 2, 1928, to the memory of Lucina Ball, their sister.

The hall not only serves as a home for one hundred girls but also aids in the social development of the women students. Here the freshmen girls may become acquainted with college life in a comfortable, homelike atmosphere which does much to facilitate the adjustment to new conditions.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Benjamin J. Burris, director of the Hall, and the house organization, many social activities are sponsored. Each year a series of teas are given by the residents at which the faculty is entertained. During this series Mrs. William C. Ball presented a grand piano to the hall.

Other gifts which have been presented this year are two bronzes and two paintings; given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Ball, and one painting, by the Muncie Art Association.

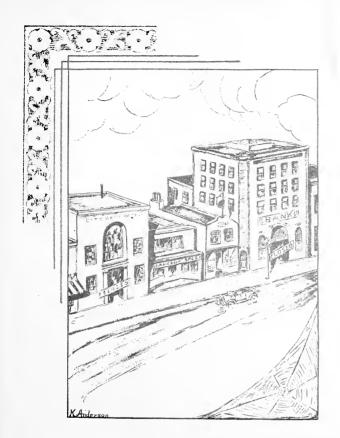

Social events include annual formal and informal dances, parties, and dinners for critic teachers.

This state college offers courses leading to life licenses for Superintendents, Principals, High School Teachers, Special Teachers, Supervisors, Kindergarten, Primary and Intermediate Teachers. Work leading to the Master of Arts degree in Education is now offered in addition to the four-year college courses.

Library, Laboratories, Demonstration-Laboratory School, Gymnasium, and Athletic Fields are well equipped. Every student in the college has an opportunity to take part in activities, which include dramatics, art, concerts, band, glee clubs, journalism, field trips, indoor and outdoor sports, pageants, various contests, departmental clubs, and social organizations.

The campus consists of eighty acres, several of which are a natural forested area. The college plant consists of eight buildings, six of which are beautiful, new, English Gothic structures. A building program, which includes a new arts building, a new wing to the library, an addition to the heating plant, and the remodeling of the Administration building, has been approved.
